Saying goodbye and telling their story

It's never easy, but saying goodbye is a natural and healthy part of the grieving process. This can occur in a number of ways - from a more traditional ceremony uniting family and friends or a simple, private service with your immediate family.

Make your loved one's tribute personal and unique

Whether families opt for burial or cremation as a means of final disposition, wood products manufactured at Victoriaville & Co. offer a “neutral disposition” option, meaning they are designed for both burial and cremation.

Viewing the body helps with the grieving process

Allows

- Psychological realization of the reality of the death of your loved one
- To see your loved one at rest and in a peaceful state
- To say your final goodbyes
- To express your emotions and share the loss collectively with friends and family

Bespoke Collection Plus allows families to personalize the casket with different fabric colors.

Have you chosen a final resting place for your loved one's cremated remains?

4 popular options are available to you.

You can bring the cremated remains home with you

You can place them in a columbarium

You can inter them in a cemetery

You can scatter them

Depending on how you would like to preserve the memory of your loved one, some options may be more appropriate.

For example, scattering is a strong symbolic gesture but leaves no permanent memorial for future generations.

Your funeral advisor will guide you so that you can make the best decision for you and your family.
